

What follows is an excerpt from this interview focusing more on the film branch of the franchise. Please follow the link for the full conversation. Gamepro: So when I watch the second movie. will I be rewarded in some way for having played the game? Orci: Absolutely, that's exactly the point. We would not allow a game to go out if it was not somehow a part of the continuity. One of the things that we always loved about Star Trek before we were ever lucky enough to work on it, was that it had this very inclusive universe. If you're a Star Trek you're a canon fanatic. You want to try to see how things fit into everything else. So when the idea of this game came up, we could not help but try to figure out, how does this fit into our universe? If you're a fan of the first movie

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/startrekthenandnow/news/?a=40841&t=Star_Trek_Sequel_Bob_Orci_Reveals_More_Details