

While chatting with Empire, Steven Spielberg was asked on the current status of the next Indiana Jones and Jurassic Park films. While not going in to much on Jurassic Park Spielberg did say it is currently being written and that the story for this one is better than the one for the third one. When answering about Indiana Jones, Spielberg deflected the question by saying the question should be directed at George Lucas. He also gives his thoughts about the last Indy film Kingdom Of The Crystal Skull. On Jurassic Park "The screenplay is being written right now by Mark Protosevich. I'm hoping that will come out in the next couple of years. We have a good story. We have a better story for four than we had for three..." On the Next Indiana Jones Movie: "You have to ask George Lucas. George is in charge of breaking the stories. He's done it on all

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=48914&t=Steven_Spielberg_Gives_Updates_On_Next_Jurassic_Park_And_Indiana_Jones_Films