

Filming of Iron Man 3 has already begun, but the plot remains shrouded in mystery. Little is known about what writer and director Shane Black has planned for the Armoured Avenger, although the addition of several villains to the cast has left fans chomping at the bit for more information. Talking to Desde Hollywood recently, storyboard artist Federico D'Alessandro has revealed a few interesting new details on what we should expect from the threequel. "Shane Black is a master storyteller and the movie is in really good hands. The story delves deeper into Tony Stark's character. By the end of the movie, audiences will have a much better understanding of what his fears are and what makes him tick. I think audiences are really going to enjoy that. There are also some really cool action scenes. It's going to be a thrilling movie." So, we have a slightly better idea of what
