

Jared Leto's Joker donned numerous outfits in David Ayer's Suicide Squad, but the one that excited fans the most was the comic-inspired tuxedo the character sported in the film's trailers.

Sadly, we didn't get to see all that much of this look in the film's final cut, but that hasn't stopped Hot Toys from creating their own variant to commemorate the outfit, complete with a purple cane, hand grenade and golden assault rifle. Check out the images and description of the 1/6th scale figure below! In the DC Comics blockbuster Suicide Squad, Academy Award-winning actor Jared Leto delivers an edgy new take on the Joker unlike anything we've seen before. The flamboyant makeup and wardrobe certainly makes his ballsy performance even more fun and memorable. Today Hot Toys is excited to announce the new 1/6th scale collectible figure of the Clown Prince of Crime in formal wear – a black tuxedo that highlights his manic charisma! The movie-accurate collectible figure is specially crafted based

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/suicide\_squad/suicide-squad-hot-toys-unveils-a-new-tuxedo-version-of-jared-letos-a146359