We've all heard that NBC's superhero show "The Cape" airs this Sunday with a two hour special but here's a new one regarding the show: You can create a villain that can appear on the show! That's kinda cool! According to the series website "Entries will be judged 50% on originality and 50% on creativity." However it's not a supervillain you can create since The Cape himself doesn't possess otherworldly powers. You can only submit one villain during the contest and you must have entered by January 28th, 2011. And without further ado, here's Summer Glau: For more information and possible entering go to NBC's The Cape website: <http://www.nbc.com/the-cape/submit-your-villain/> Good luck! BMP!
