

Starks are always right eventually - winter is well and truly here, and the time has come to start dressing accordingly. With the imminent release of the extended edition of David Ayer's Suicide Squad, what better time to spotlight a couple of great Task Force X-related items from SuperHeroStuff that'll keep the ol' noggin warm when the cold winds begin to rise? First up is the very cozy Suicide Squad Cuffed Beanie. Standard beanies may do a decent job against the wind, but do they keep the rain outta your eyes too? A curved bill on your beanie is the way forward my friends. We also have the Task Force X hat for when the weather gets a bit less extreme. This cap won't do quite as good a job against the elements, but it does have little pocket-things on the side. Fair trade if you ask me! Suicide Squad Task Force X Cuffed Beanie Normally you have to be a terrible person who

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/suicide\_squad/superherostuff-product-spotlight-suicide-squad-cuffed-beanie-and-a147167