

Keeping in tone with part 1, the dialogue is minimal as I am trying to tell the story through images and music almost like a “silent movie”. In this quick chapter, I wanted to dramatically slow down the pace and focus on people close to Superman while experiencing the funeral from their POV. I wanted to separate this from other massive scale funeral vids with tons of cameos by keeping it smaller and more intimate. I also wanted to touch on the relationships between the core three members of the Justice League because in my vision, although they are friends, the Justice League has not been formed yet. Unknowingly, this is the moment that truly brings them together and it begins with Batman and Wonder Woman in their quest to avenge Superman’s death. I am fully aware that there is a huge logical problem by having a funeral while

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/kashchei2003/news/?a=38306&t=Superman_Doomsday_Fan_Film_Part_2_-_Funeral_for_a_Friend