

Steve over at Collider has posted a few snaps of the new TDKR merchandise he spotted at Wondercon. Nothing revealing movie wise, but a few cool items. Those Bane Converse might be a little bit cartoonish for the over 12s but the other pair might be worth a purchase. As you can see there are some tees for some other DC properties too, I have my eye on that Animal Man one.. Most of the items won't be available until closer to the movie's release in the Summer. There is also a rumor (but a shaky one) that some new footage from the movie may be screened along with the premiere of DC's latest animated feature Superman VS The Elite. If that happens I'm sure we'll hear about it quick enough, but keep an eye/ear out. And, according to THR Christopher Nolan has screened a rough cut of TDKR for WB's
