

The lads over at the TDKR fan community FB page have posted a few excerpts from Entertainment Weekly's current issue, which as we know features plenty of Bat-related goodies. First up, the much speculated upon "death of Batman" is brought up by the mag as they listen to the actors describe the story. Then Christian Bale describes Batman's state of mind as he is forced to take on the powerful Bane.. Listening to Team Nolan talk about the film, you find yourself wondering: 'Will Batman actually survive till the end credits?'...."We wanted to show a character who is aging, who is damaged, who may not be in his prime," says Bale. "He has never encountered anyone with such blunt force as Bane, and this is not the best time for him to encounter him." Next, a brief quote from Anne Hathaway suggests Nolan has brought plenty of death and destruction to his third

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=57797>