

Angela Bowie, former wife of singer David Bowie, has revealed via an email to manwithoutfear.com that she was given the television rights to Black Widow and Daredevil for a year, and attempted to create a TV series. However, due to cost and special effects reasons, the furthest they ever got was a brief photo shoot which you can see below. Thank you for your interest and e-mail. I am surprised that you ask me that question. I received permission from Stan Lee to have the rights to Daredevil and Black Widow for a year. We were unable to place the series. Actor, writer, Benny Carruthers and I did the photo shoot with Terry O'Neill and Natasha Kornilkoff costume designer and Barbara Daly - make-up in London and that was all that ever happened. Unfortunately at that time it was considered too difficult and expensive to film, special effects etc. I appreciate your

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/DZGeneral/news/?a=53223&t=The 70s DAREDEVIL BLACK WIDOW TV Show That Almost Happened