

The director explains that what you saw in the trailer is just a hint of what is in store for the viewing audience when the film hits theaters next summer. I was hoping that was more of a gimmick for the trailer, but sadly the copycat effect of Mirror's Edge will have a more prominent role in the movie. I for one get motion sick very quickly and still remember running to the bathroom during Blair Witch. I guess I'll be knocking back dramamine like they're orange tic tacs. Get More: Movie Trailers, Movies Blog "[There] are also moments we really wanted to embrace this experiential process of 3-D," Webb told us about Spidey Vision while at San Diego Comic-Con. "The teaser is a hint at some of that." "We shot and conceived of this film in 3-D," he said, "and I wanted there to be moments where you really feel and see

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/debbiedowner/news/?a=43503&t=i>
The Amazing Spider-man: Marc Webb Promotes Spidey Vision Video