

After outing their return yesterday by releasing a preview of their first single in fifteen years, which contributes to the "Avengers Assemble" soundtrack of Marvel's The Avengers movie, the American rock band Soundgarden has issued a statement via press release. Revealing the track list, which features additional performers, and the release date for Alan Silvestri's original score for the motion, read below! BURBANK, Calif., March 27, 2012 -- Marvel Music/Hollywood Records announce the return of Soundgarden with the release of the band's first song in 15 years, "Live to Rise." The song will be featured in the end credits to this year's highly anticipated movie, "Marvel's The Avengers." "Live to Rise" is included on Avengers Assemble, a 14-track compilation of music from and inspired by the film. Avengers Assemble will be released on May 1, 2012. Soundgarden stated, "We've been hard at work on our new album, which will

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=57013>