

Comic book movie fans love to be recognized by the clever insertion of "insider" information into a scene, and smart directors know this only adds to the excitement and anticipation of their movie. Favs knows this, and apparently so does Joss Whedon. I would just like to point this out. This Trailer still... Looks almost exactly like... I don't know if it was on purpose, or if it was just a coincidence. Either way it is pretty cool that they look similar. Do you think it is a deliberate Easter Egg from Josh Wheldon, or is it just an Awesome coincidence?
