

The people over at On Location Vacation have been tipped off that a casting call has been issued for Marvel's The Avengers this week. So it appears that Joss Whedon will be doing re-shoots on the much anticipated movie based on Earth's Mightiest Heroes. Filming will take place over at Manhattan Beach Studios, and will start today but only as rehearsal. From On Location Vacation: We've heard from a couple different sources that there was a casting call issued for The Avengers in Los Angeles this week. All we know so far is that there is going to be some activity at Manhattan Beach Studios today for the movie, but it sounds like it is only a rehearsal or fittings, no actual filming, yet. If they are doing some re-shoots in the next couple of weeks, it will most likely take place in the studio. As stated in the report the re-shoot will take place in

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=52191&t=THE_AVENGERS_Prepping_For_Re-Shoots