

While reading an interview with Zak Penn over at SFX (no idea why the guy is still talking about The Avengers when it's a well know fact that Joss Whedon has rewritten the script) I noticed something a little strange at the end of their report. The Avengers will be released by Walt Disney Studios on 27 April 2012. At first, I figured that it must have been a mistake of some sort. After all, May 4th is the date we've all been counting down to for the past year or more. Well, after doing a little digging, it seem that this is indeed when The Avengers will be released in the UK. Several other reputable news sites use it when writing about the movie, while it's also listed on the likes of FilmDates.co.uk. As some of you may recall, Paramount released both Iron Man 2 and THOR in the UK two
