

I thought it would be interesting to get an idea of how The Avengers trailer went down in some other camps. It was arguably the most anticipated teaser in CBM history after all. Did it disappoint? Well judging from the reactions here seemingly not but the same can't be said for everyone. Here are some quotes from various other parties around the web.. Katey Rich from Cinemablend gives one of her 5 reasons why the trailer may have underwhelmed.. The music was awful. Minor quibble, but an important one. When a trailer is set to unlistenable modern rock, it always seems to be straining to appeal to a young male audience while irritating the hell out of everybody else. Don't they know that young men are going to see this movie no matter what anyway, and they can relax a little? Eric Ditzian from MTV writes.. "The first full trailer for The Avengers is here, though

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=47991&t=iThe_Avengersi_Trailer_Critics_Reactions