

As we know, The Avengers will now "disassemble" and return to the solo movie franchises that led up to Joss Whedon's superhero ensemble. We have Captain America 2, Thor 2 and Iron Man 3 already in the pipeline, and most likely another Hulk movie at some point too. We also know that these movies will be very much individual stories and will probably not feature cameos from any other characters. So how are we supposed to buy Cap not buzzing Iron Man for some extra firepower when his back is to the wall? Chris Hemsworth, Mark Ruffalo, Chris Evans and Robert Downey Jr. share their thoughts on how that might work out.. Q: Now that the Avengers have assembled, can we go back to individual stories like Iron Man 3, Thor 2? Evans: If they can bring us together they can break us down. The real obstacle was making this happen. Going back
