

Check out this humorous series of fake outtakes between Christian Bale and Morgan Freeman. The Christian Bale impersonation is spot on, and the Morgan Freeman isn't too shabby either. Besides the voices being convincing, it is the content of each outtake that really makes this parody a winner. Christian Bale shouts at Christopher Nolan that the bat suit should be computer generated, and Morgan Freeman believes that Christian is actually playing two roles in the film, since he has never seen the first two Batman films. And that is just a taste, have a listen. Christian Bale and Morgan Freeman audio from the set of The Dark Knight Rises, discussing the movie in between takes.
