

Thanks to Twitter's @stitchkingdom, we have the first official synopsis for Thor: Ragnarok! As you can see below, it confirms a lot of rumours we've heard about the movie as Thor is left without Mjolnir and left pretty much powerless in some sort of cosmic prison far away from both Earth and Asgard. The latter meanwhile sounds like it's in serious jeopardy from Hela as she looks to destroy the realm. However, the biggest talking point here is without a doubt the fact that Thor looks set to be pitted against The Hulk inside a gladiatorial arena as that confirms that we're getting elements of Planet Hulk and that these two won't be fighting side by side for at least some of the movie. Instead, they'll be battling each other, and you'll no doubt remember from The Avengers just how much fun that was! The cast list doesn't reveal anything we didn't already know, but there's no mention of Benedict Cumberbatch's Doctor Strange. With

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/thor/thor\_ragnarok/the-first-thor-ragnarok-synopsis-confirms-unworthy-thor-teases-a147915