

It's fair to say that the teaser trailer for Logan may very well be one of the best first looks we've had at a superhero movie in some time, but what if Fox were to release it in black and white? Many fans thought that was going to be the case following the release of all those behind the scenes images, and now someone has edited the trailer to give us an idea of what exactly that would have looked like. LOGAN: Breaking Down The Emotional First Trailer For The Final WOLVERINE Movie Seeing the footage in black and white does make a pretty significant difference, and it will be interesting to see if Fox ultimately releases a version minus colour as Warner Bros. did for Mad Max: Fury Road not too long ago. Regardless of what Logan ends up looking like, it's definitely one of 2017's most exciting movies as of right now. Check out the trailer and then let us know

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/x-men/the_wolverine/the-logan-trailer-in-black-and-white-is-somehow-even-more-a146178