

After months and months of waiting, Lionsgate will finally debut the first piece of action-packed footage from their upcoming Dean Israelite-directed Power Rangers reboot at a massive New York Comic-Con panel tomorrow afternoon. However, since that's still over 24 hours away, they've debuted five awesome new character posters, via IGN's Snapchat, featuring each Ranger striking a heroic pose. The Rangers are played by five relative newcomers: Dacre Montgomery plays the Red Ranger, Naomi Scott is the Pink Ranger, Ludi Lin is the Black Ranger, Becky Gomez is the Yellow Ranger, and RJ Cyler is the Blue Ranger. They're joined by Elizabeth Banks as the villainous Rita Repulsa, Bryan Cranston as their mentor Zordon, and Bill Hader as their lovable sidekick Alpha 5. Check out a video of their Snapchat story below:

Check out screenshots of the new batch of posters below: Saban's
Power Rangers follows five ordinary high school kids who must become something extraordinary when they learn that their small town of Angel Grove –

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/action/the-power-rangers-get-back-to-action-on-these-sweet-new-morphed-character-a145782>