

At first glance you might think Castle is in the process of laying a beating on an unfortunate thug here, but on closer inspection it looks like he's actually saving this guy from falling off a ledge. Just Jared has posted a new batch of images from the Greenpoint, Brooklyn set of Marvel and Netflix's The Punisher, and though we're not entirely certain of the context, it appears that Jon Bernthal's troubled vigilante might be working on a building site when we catch up with him after the events of Daredevil season 2. Is this simply a co-worker he's managed to rescue from a potentially nasty trip, or is there more to it? You can check out the rest of the pics HERE.

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/punisher/the-punisher-jon-bernthals-frank-castle-plays-the-hero-in-new-set-snaps-a145965>