

A new DC All Access preview looks at this week's new DCTV offerings from Lucifer, Supergirl and The Flash. Out of the three, tonight's Supergirl episode looks the most exciting as we have a number of different storylines to follow, featuring Mon-El, Martian Manhunter, Cyborg Superman and Guardian. With the four-episode crossover kicking off next Monday on the 28th, perhaps we'll even get a hint of The Dominators? The Flash is also ready to embark on an interesting new story direction for Caitlin Snow as Cisco looks prepared to become a bonafide superhero. There's a cold front moving in on Central City, so bundle up and be sure to watch this new #DCTV clip to make sure you're prepared. Hector Navarro has ditched his Legion of Doom ring so that he can talk you through this week's episodes of The Flash, Supergirl and Lucifer. Plus, commenters weigh in with their favorite sidekicks. (Seriously, how did Dex-Starr fail to make the list? Are all our

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/supergirl/the-real-cyborg-superman-puts-a-beat-down-on-supergirl-tonight-a146957>