

Based on the critically acclaimed comic and television series, The Walking Dead will now have their own Minimates by way of Diamond Select Toys. The pricing as well as the release date for the miniature figures is unknown right now. Until then, here is a selection that was present at the 2012 Toy Fair.

What do you think of the figures so far? Who else would you like to see a part of this Minimate series? Recently, The Walking Dead television series started its second half and I seriously hope Diamond Select would do Minimate figures of those characters (Daryl Dixon, fingers crossed). This is Mareado and thank you for having Salsa with me. Many thanks to Slashfilm for the heads up.
