

With Michonne, The Governor and the Prison all set to make their debut in season three of The Walking Dead, fans of the comic book series will know that we have an awful lot to look forward to. Talking to Shock Till You Drop at last night's Saturn Awards, Robert Kirkman had this to say about the introduction of fan favourite character, Michonne. "I can say that I'm completely in denial when I see Danai [Gurira] walk out on set and jump off the page. As badass as she is in the comics, seeing her move and seeing her kill the zombies in motion is so much more intense that you can believe. Fans of the comics are going to love it. She's great." The series has often taken liberties with the source material, and the trailer for the third season seemed to indicate that they will be handling the introduction of

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=64626>