

Robert Kirkman on Daryl Dixon:"It all comes down to Norman. I feel absolutely blessed he has honored our show with his presence, and the way he has come in and taken over that role and defined Daryl Dixon. A lot of Norman's portrayal of the character in the first season inspired all the writers to do what we did with him in the second season. We love writing him and end up doing cool stuff with him." Norman Reedus on Daryl Dixon:"Originally, he was supposed to be this angry guy with a racist viewpoint who hated everybody, and you've seen him grow and become a better person. Maybe that has something to do with it [on Daryl's popularity]. Daryl is this guy who needs a hug, but if you try to hug him, he'll try to stab you. He doesn't want to talk about his feelings, but you can tell there's
