The Walking Dead Set To Return In July

According to Bryan Cranston the star of the hit AMC show Breaking Bad, which is ready to return this summer, has let it slip that another AMC hit, The Walking Dead will also make a return to the silver screen this July: "It was a decision from AMC that they wanted to position us in July... They want to attract as many eyeballs as possible, away from the heavy competition of the September, November [or] January start." "I believe they're going to put Walking Dead in July as well," said Cranston to New York Magazine. This news is not official so there could still be a chance the show will not return until October as previously expected.
