

It's rare that a TV show outdoes a film (in terms of special effects that is) because of the huge difference in budgets. However, make-up extraordinaire and The Walking Dead producer Greg Nicotero brings to "life" some truly incredible zombies in the AMC series, and the following time-lapse video (courtesy of Entertainment Weekly) he reveals exactly how it's done as the 90 minute process is condensed into just 90 seconds. Next week's issue of Entertainment Weekly will reportedly feature a The Walking Dead themed cover, hopefully meaning that we can expect plenty of new season three images and details!
