

It's now confirmed that AMC will be releasing webisodes prior to the start of the third season of The Walking Dead. On Oct. 1st, the first of four five-minute eps will reveal a new group of characters with actor Daniel Roebuck(Lost) in one of the key roles. Cold Storage tells the story of a young man, Chase (played by Josh Stewart), trying to reach his sister in the early days of the zombie apocalypse. He finds temporary shelter in a storage facility run by a former employee named B.J. (Roebuck); however, things are not what they appear. Fans of the show will recall that Season 2's 'prequel' webisodes told the story of the 'bicycle girl' Rick encountered in the memorable Season 1 premiere episode. Also, it was just announced recently that the full Season 2 of The Walking Dead will be made available on Netflix September 30th. RELATED CONTENT: EXCLUSIVE: Interview With THE WALKING DEAD
