

Yesterday reports came in that Jessica Biel had been offered the role of Viper in James Mangold's The Wolverine, and this was quickly followed up by an announcement from Deadline that she had accepted. But it seems that may have been a bit premature. Have a look at what the lovely actress had to say to Hitfix in an interview at SDCC.. "People keep talking about this, I don't know anything about it. It's a little bit too soon for that kind of an announcement. I'm excited about this series..." But it's not a done deal. "I love wolverine, Hugh Jackman is so cool... people are surprising me about it all the time. When you see that people actually really think that could be an amazing character... when other people are excited about things."

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=63759>