

Following a couple of new posters, Warner Bros. has released an extended TV spot (actually, at 1:45 it's pretty much a new trailer) for The LEGO Batman Movie, and it's very funny indeed. The first half is mostly made up of previously seen footage, but then we get quite a bit of new stuff with The Joker (Zach Galifianakis), as well as shots of the rest of the bad guys and some of the Justice League assembled. Check it out below, and let us know what you think in the comments section. In the irreverent spirit of fun that made The LEGO® Movie a worldwide phenomenon, the self-described leading man of that ensemble—LEGO Batman—stars in his own big-screen adventure. But there are big changes brewing in Gotham, and if he wants to save the city from The Joker's hostile takeover, Batman may have to drop the lone vigilante thing, try to work with others and maybe, just maybe, learn to lighten up.
