

In fairness to Fox, they've done a great job of not spoiling any key scenes from Logan in the movie's trailers and TV spots, but they're definitely starting to show off a lot more from the highly anticipated release. This latest preview focuses mainly on action, though we hear new dialogue from the villainous leader of The Reavers - Boyd Holbrook's Pierce - and some great shots of both Wolverine and X-23 using their claws with brutal results. I may be wrong, but this TV spot also shows Laura using the claws in her feet for the first time, though everything happens so quickly, they're easy enough to miss. Once all the blood is added in because of Logan's R-Rating, these scenes should look even cooler. 6 Wild LOGAN Story Predictions You Can Take To The Bank There are just weeks to go until Logan is released and the review embargo lifts fairly soon, so expect to hear much more about the movie soon. With

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/x-men/logan/theres-plenty-of-brutal-violence-courtesy-of-wolverine-in-this-new-tv-a148960>