

It's not much, but the following snaps of some merchandise from Iron Man 3 taken from the NTCC Hasbro kick-off party might just give us some idea of how the various suits of armor Stark is said to don at different points in the movie will look.. Then again of course, they may just be toy designs and won't be reflected in the movie at all! Still, we do know that Tony Stark suits up in several different new styles of armor in Iron Man 3, there is every chance these little blighters are giving us our first glimpse at some of them. Thoughts?
