

Though a recent rumor (well, a 4Chan theory more accurately) suggested Peter Dinklage might have signed on to play Eitri the Dwarf-King in Marvel's Avengers: Infinity War, it looks like our first guess might well have been accurate. Some photos of the Game of Thrones star in a salon on the Lower East Side of Manhattan have found their way online (via MCU Exchange), and as you can see, the actor is in the process of getting his hair dyed a very distinctive, fiery shade of red. Though this is far from solid evidence, it does point to Dinklage playing Pip the troll, who sports a very similarly-colored 'do in the comics and plays a significant role in Jim Starlin's Infinity Saga. The pics are copyrighted, but you can check 'em out HERE. What do you guys think? Is Dinklage playing Pip? Or did he just fancy a new look? Avengers: Infinity War is set to begin filming next week, and will be in theaters

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/avengers/avengers_infinity_war/these-pics-might-give-us-an-indication-of-which-a148327