

Ooga-Chaka, Ooga Chaka, what a 24 hours it's been for fans of Guardians of the Galaxy! Following the release of an extended TV spot, a poster, and then a shorter version with extra footage, Marvel has now debuted a batch of hi-res images from the sequel. Most are essentially trailer screengrabs, but there are some new shots in here, specifically those featuring the golden Ayesha and her people. There's also plenty of Baby Groot, a stunning shot of the team assembled, along with fresh shots of characters like Star-Lord, Nebula, and Rocket Raccoon. From a visual standpoint, Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 2 looks downright incredible, and any one of these images will make for a great wallpaper on your computer or phone. Personally, I'm going for the shot below of Rocket and Groot together... Starring Chris Pratt, Zoe Saldana, Dave Bautista, Bradley Cooper, Vin Diesel, Karen Gillan, Michael Rooker, Pom Klementieff, Elizabeth Debicki, and Kurt Russell, the movie will be released on May
