

A While ago it was reported that David Arnold was out as the composer of the new Bond movie due to his busy schedule as the London Olympics musical director and that Thomas Newman would replace him, today the site 007.com confirmed that Newman has officially signed on to compose the score for the 23rd Bond Movie, Skyfall. Newman worked on the score for several Sam Mendes movies, such as Road to Perdition and American Beauty. Here is the official announcement: Michael G. Wilson and Barbara Broccoli today announced that composer Thomas Newman will score the 23rd James Bond film, SKYFALL. "We are delighted to confirm that Thomas Newman will score SKYFALL. Thomas is one of the most respected and successful composers, he has a long history of working with Sam Mendes and we look forward to welcoming him into the Bond family," commented Michael. G Wilson and Barbara Broccoli. Said Newman today,
