

The box office results for this weekend are in! Thor, the epic Marvel film released last week to positive reviews and hit $66 million in its first weekend, is #1 for a second week in a row. It's set to make $32 million in its second week, followed by Bridesmaids at $22 million and Fast Five at $18 million. Also, the action horror/thriller Priest, an adaptation of a graphic novel, failed miserably with $5.6 million. From Hit Fix: Thor still ruled the top five with another $9.1 million and $93.8 in just eight days. The first Marvel Studios release of the summer looks like it will end up with $160-170 million domestically when all is said and done. That's far less than the $300 million mark achieved by the both Iron Man features, but far better than 2008's Incredible Hulk which grossed $134 million. The other significant news Friday was the
