Out promoting his recent comedy flick The Details, at the Sundance Film Festival, MTV caught up with former Peter Parker actor Tobey Maguire. Speaking shortly, Maguire gives his stamp of approval on Marc Webb's new Spidey suit for the reboot, who'll be donned by actor Andrew Garfield. "The suit? I thought it looked cool," he said. "I think they did a great job with the design of it and I'm excited to see it in action." While the most noticeable differences includes a darker Spider symbol & the thin strip of red down his chest, and not to mention it's vivid tone & more 'blue' than ever, the new Spider-Man swings into theaters July 3, in 3D!
