

A few days ago, Transformers: Dark of the Moon actor Shia LeBeouf claimed to have clashed with Tom Hardy on the set of The Wettest County In The World, saying that their clash resulted in Hardy never doing, "that roughhouse stuff with me again." Well, Den of Geek recently had the chance to catch up with the star of Inception and next years The Dark Knight Rises, and he had his own take on what went down. "I got knocked out by Shia LaBeouf, actually," Hardy said. "In Wettest County, apparently." According to the site, no one could tell whether he was joking, although the following was met with quite a bit of laughter. "[It was] behind the scenes! No, he did, he knocked me out sparko. Out cold. He's a bad, bad boy. He is. He's quite intimidating as well. He's a scary dude. He just attacked me," Hardy said, reportedly
