

Tom Felton channels a little Draco Malfoy in this clip from tonight's second episode from Season 2 of The Flash. As Barry looks to discover more about the small changes to the timeline caused by his latest trip back in time (seriously, Joe and Iris on bad terms is just weird), he'll have to figure out why Julian hates him so much. Reverse-Flash did warn Barry that there's always a price to pay with changing history, even when you seemingly return things to their natural order. Also, what are the Vegas odds on Felton turning out to be this season's big bad, Dr. Alchemy? Or do you think that's a little too obvious? The Flash is all new tonight, at 8/7c on The CW. Barry (Grant Gustin) realizes the effects from Flashpoint are much greater than he thought. Meanwhile, Barry meets new co-worker Julian Albert (Tom Felton) and is surprised by Julian's immediate disdain for him. Ralph Hemecker directed the episode written by
