

While doing the press rounds for Warrior, talk has once again inevitably turned to his role as Bane in The Dark Knight Rises. The actor revealed that while he put on over 18 kg for Bronson back in 2009, he's shot right up to 87 kg for this latest role - the most he's ever weighed! "I feel heavy. This size is not real. I only feel strong in short stints of times. If I needed to get across the room and throw someone through a door, I could do that, but...as soon as I'm done shooting, I'm dropping the weight." Hardy then went on to elaborate on how exactly he landed the role. Filming rom-com, This Means War, he was just about to head on over to Australia to film new Mad Max movie, Fury Road, only for the torrential floods down under to cause the cancellation of the shoot. It

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=46132&t=Tom_Hardy_Discusses_Gaining_Muscle_To_Play_Bane_And_How_He_Nearly_Missed_Out_On_iT_DKRi