

While interviewing with Collider about his new film Warrior, Tom Hardy revealed how he got the part of Bane in Christopher Nolan's final Batman film: Collider:Mr. Hardy, a friend of suggested that your deltoids should get its own credit because it is the mass and shape of a separate character. All kidding aside, is it fun or creepy to do that science fair kind of stuff of "I'm only going to eat chicken and broccoli and lift weights. Let's see what kind of monster I can be." Is that fun or is it just terrifying? Hardy: [laughs] The novelty wears off. Initially it was good fun and then you settle in for the tour and the tour is a few months. By the end of Warrior I went on to Inception and it was really nice to just wear a pair of silk pants, a silk

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=45973&t=emTom_Hardyem_Reveals_How_He_Got_The_Part_Of_emBaneem_In_emThe_Dark_Knight_Risesem