

Promoting his recent drama flick The Deep Blue Sea, English actor Tom Hiddleston briefly bethought on bonding with the co-stars of his highly-anticipated 'Loki' reprisal in Marvel and Joss Whedon's The Avengers movie. Essentially elaborating on their bond through bruises, as well one gained in a fight scene with Mark Ruffalo's Hulk, read an excerpt from the interview below. The superheroes bonded during filming in Albuquerque, New Mexico, he says. "It's like being in a rugby team. We used to pull up our shirts with me saying 'Look at the size of this bruise on my hip' and then Chris Evans pulling down his trousers going, 'Dude, you think that's bad – look at my ass.' The worst was I smashed my elbow during a tête-à-tête with Mark Ruffalo's Incredible Hulk. It really hurt." Marvel's The Avengers is the Super Hero team up of a lifetime, featuring iconic Marvel Super Heroes Iron
