

Spider-Man: Homecoming has wrapped shooting, but we've still seen nothing official from the highly anticipated release. Chances are that Marvel wants to keep the focus on Doctor Strange and the upcoming Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 2 trailer before promoting it, but after being treated to an array of set photos, we do at least have an interesting new interview with Tom Holland to keep us going! Asked by Variety at the premiere of The Lost City of Z about donning the costume for Spider-Man: Homecoming, the British actor replied: "The suit's not the greatest thing, but sometimes when it's uncomfortable, you just have to remind yourself of the long list of actors that would love to be in that suit and you just go, 'do you know what, f*ck it. I'm the luckiest kid alive. I deserve to be here and I'm going to give it my best.'" It turns out that Holland is just as positive about the stunts. "I did as

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/spider-man/tom-holland-discusses-spider-man-homecoming-costume-and-stunts-and-a146046>