

Tom Holland has continued his stunts as the famous red-and-blue wall-crawler on the set of Spider-Man: Homecoming. The 20-year-old actor was spotted by The Mirror on the set of the film at Brandenburg Gate in Germany, filming a scene on top of a moving double decker bus. Details on the scene are scarce but it's probably safe to say it won't be taking place in Germany in the context of the film (though Brandenburg Gate is one of Germany's most well-known landmarks). Holland was also seen snapping a few more selfies while prepping for the scene. Check the photos out below!

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/spider-man/tom-hollands-wall-crawler-rides-the-bus-in-new-spider-man-homecoming-a145896>