

It's been quite a couple of weeks for first looks on CBM. And by far some of the most exciting reveals came with the official releases of the following teaser trailers. The teaser for Christopher Nolan's Batman threequel was criticized for using a little too much footage from the previous movies, but the new stuff packed an emotional wallop along with a great final shot of Bane advancing on Batman. This teaser certainly showed us that Marc Webb was going for a different tone with his Spider-Man reboot. Some nice shots of the main cast and some first person web swinging. But did we see enough of Spidey himself? By TwitterButtons.com

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=42817&title=Trailer_Battle_TDKR_VS_The_Amazing_Spider-Man