

Dredd is one of the most entertaining movies of the year. Is it a theatrical masterpiece or exemplary feat of acting or special effects? No, but it is a gritty, faithful, adaptation of one of the best characters to ever scowl across a comic book panel. It sure as hell deserves better than its paltry $6.3M estimated weekend box-office take. Correct your mistake, assuage your misgivings and go see Dredd this week! Finally saw DREDD. Absolutely nailed the mood and character.

— Dave Gibbons (@davegibbons90) September 17, 2012 DREDD was great. Focused, tense, perfect casting. Minimal Garland Problem (usually weak third act).— Jamie McKelvie (@McKelvie) September 17, 2012 I went to the premier of DREDD! That movie was off the chain!! That drug in it called "Slowmo" was cool..Special effects was awesome!Go see it— Coco (@cocosworld) September 20, 2012 Peter Travis did a cracking job on Dredd. Really enjoyed it. Two lawgivers up.— Duncan

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=67739>