

With a little over two months until its opening its no surprise that G.I. Joe Retaliation is test screening. What does come as a surprise however is that test audiences may not be seeing the exact same film. According to Nuke The Fridge screenings are consisting of two separate endings. NTF's sources are saying Paramount is screening the two endings in hopes of avoiding a box office flop. While the films predecessor G.I. Joe Rise Of Cobra was a financial success it was met with some pretty harsh criticisms. Now it looks like Jon Chu and company are doing everything they can to ensure that not only is this one a financially successful but critically as well. According to a story line NTF posted G.I. Joe Retaliation will center around Cobra spy Zartan who has that majority of the G.I. Joes assassinated. The film will also see the remaining joes band together
