Sorry about the text all over the following images (it's not my doing!) but Perez Hilton has come across these fantastic shots of the brand new Spider-Man suit. As you can see, we get a very good look at the eyes on the mask as well as the web shooters and redesigned red and blue patterns on the costume itself. UPDATE: MTV Splash Page have just posted this even clearer shot of the costume, giving us an even better look at the new design! UPDATE: Thanks to my good friend, ReallrOnMaN from SpiderMedia, we have yet another picture of the suit courtesy of On Vacation Locations. If you have any pictures from the set of this movie, or any other CBM, get in touch by clicking on the "Contact Me" link on the top left hand side of the page! The currently untitled Spider-Man reboot is set to be released in 3D on July
