

IGN were lucky enough to be shown the teaser trailer for The Amazing Spider-Man earlier today by developers Beenox, and they've revealed the first details about the recently unveiled tie-in. Here are a couple of excerpts from their report, but to read them in full, be sure to click on the link below to head on over to the site. -The teaser showed Spidey swinging around New York City in the day and night as well as fighting a giant metal spider-robot. The entire thing was made with in-game footage, and looked good enough to bring back my warm and fuzzy memories of the Spider-Man 2 game. -Although Beenox wouldn't go into great detail, the representative said that the game is bringing Spider-Man back to New York City, packing its own story set in the movie universe, and including a new feature that will make players feel like they are Spider-Man/Peter Parker. Sounds
